

Boston, Feb 22nd 1876.

My dear Sir,

I am pleased to learn that my first paper on American Literature, in the Feb^r Harper, attracted your attention. In the second, and concluding paper
in the March
number, you will find a reference to Thoreau. It
was inevitable that,
in going over so
wide a field,
I should be compelled to give short space to writers whom you

and I warmly esteem.

It is my intention to publish in the spring a volume
consisting of short
essays - one
seventy-five in number. I hope it will please
you.

Very sincerely yours
E. Whipple
